CONSTITUTION.

PREAMBLE.

Whereas, It is desirable that there should be adequate celebrations commemorative of the events of Colonial History happening from the settlement of Jamestown, Va., May 13, 1607, to the battle of Lexington, April 19, 1775:

Therefore, The Society of Colonial Wars has been instituted to perpetuate the memory of those events, and of the men who, in military, naval, and civil positions of high trust and responsibility, by their acts or counsel, assisted in the establishment, defense, and preservation of the American Colonies, and were in truth the founders of this nation. With this end in view it seeks to collect and preserve manuscripts, rolls, relics, and records; to provide suitable commemorations or memorials relating to the American colonial period, and to inspire in its members the fraternal and patriotic spirit of their forefathers, and in the community, respect and reverence for those whose public services made our freedom and unity possible.

ARTICLE I.

NAME.

The Society shall be known by the name and title of the General Society of Colonial Wars.

ARTICLE II.

MEMBERSHIP.

Any male person above the age of twenty-one years, of good moral character and reputation, shall be eligible to membership in the Society of Colonial Wars, who is lineally descended in the male or female line from an ancestor:

(1) Who served as a military or naval officer, or as a soldier, sailor, or marine, or as a privateersman, under authority of the Colonies which afterward formed the United States, or in the forces of Great Britain which participated with those of the said Colonies in any wars in which the said Colonies were engaged, or in which they enrolled men, from the settlement of Jamestown, May 13, 1607, to the battle of Lexington, April 19, 1775; or

(2) Who held office in any of the Colonies between the dates above mentioned, either as (a) Director-General, Vice-Director-General, or member of the Council, or legislative body in the Colony of New Netherlands;

(b) Governor, Lieutenant or Deputy Governor, Lord Proprietor, member of the King's or Governor's Council, or legislative body in the Colonies of New-York, New Jersey, Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Delaware;

(c) Lord Proprietor, Governor, Deputy Governor, or member of the Council, or of the legislative body in Maryland and the Carolinas;

(d) Governor, Deputy Governor, Governor's Assistant, or Commissioner to the United Colonies of New England, or member of the Council, body of Assistants, or legislative body in any of the New England Colonies.

One collateral representative of an ancestor such as above specified, shall be eligible to membership, provided there be no existing lineal descendant, and provided that such person be the oldest collateral representative in the male line, of such ancestor, or has filed with the Secretary-General of the Society written renunciations from all other persons having nearer claims to representation.

No State Society shall adopt any rule of eligibility for membership which shall admit any person not eligible for membership in the General Society.

But any State Society may, except as to members transferred from another State Society, further restrict, at its discretion, the basis of eligibility for membership in its own society.

ARTICLE III.

GENERAL SOCIETY.

The General Society of Colonial Wars shall consist of the societies now existing in the States of New-York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and District of Columbia, and such other State Societies as may from time to time be duly organized and authorized by the General Society.

Whenever the word "State" occurs in this Constitution it shall be held to include within its meaning the Territories of the United States, and the District of Columbia.

ARTICLE IV.

OFFICERS.

The officers of the General Society of Colonial Wars shall be — a Governor-General, a Deputy Governor-General from each State Society, a Secretary-General, a Deputy Secretary-General, a Treasurer-General, a Deputy Treasurer-General, a Registrar-General, a Historian-General, a Chaplain-General, a Chancellor-General, and a Surgeon-General. With the exception of the Deputy Governor-Generals the above officers shall be elected by a plurality vote of the delegates present at a General Assembly of the Society. Vacancies occurring by death or resignation may be filled by the General Council, for the unexpired term. Each Deputy Governor-General shall be elected by a plurality vote of the delegates present in the General Assembly from the State from which said Deputy Governor-General is chosen. The above officers shall serve until the next regular meeting of the General Assembly, or until their successors are duly chosen.

ARTICLE V.

MEETINGS.

The regular meetings of the General Society shall be termed "General Assemblies" and shall be held once every three years, at such time and place as the preceding General Assembly may elect. Special General Assemblies may be held upon the order of the Governor-General, or upon the order of the Governors of three of the State Societies.

General Assemblies shall consist of the General Officers and five delegates from each State Society. Delegates or General Officers representing a majority of the State Societies shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business; and proceedings shall be in accordance with parliamentary law. The order of business shall be —

First. The calling of the General Assembly to order by the Governor-General, or in his absence by the Secretary-General.

Second. Prayer by the Chaplain-General.

Third. Reading of Minutes of last General Assembly.

Fourth. Report from Secretary-General.

Fifth. Report from the Treasurer-General.

Sixth. Report from Committees and Officers.

Seventh. Unfinished Business.

Eighth. New Business.

Ninth. Reports from State Societies.

Tenth. Election of Officers.

Eleventh. Benediction by the Chaplain-General.

The minutes of each Assembly shall be read before its final adjournment.

ARTICLE VI.

STATE SOCIETIES.

Each State Society shall annually transmit to the Secretary-General a circular letter stating the number of its members, general matters of interest, and any suggestions which may be deemed of advantage to the Society. Each State Society shall, in the month of January in each year, pay to the Treasurer-General the sum of $25.00.

ARTICLE VII.

POWERS OF THE GENERAL SOCIETY.

The General Society shall have sole power of action in the national, as distinct from the State, affairs of the organization. It shall have jurisdiction to pass upon all questions of eligibility referred to it by the Registrar-General; but shall not otherwise interfere in the regulations or government of any State Society, unless by a plurality vote of the General Assembly, when the surrender of a State charter may be demanded, should an investigation show that such action is necessary for the welfare of the Societies at large. It shall have power to grant charters to States other than those in which the Society is already organized, provided that at least nine persons duly qualified to be members make such application. It shall issue the insignia and the diploma of membership. It shall publish the Year-Book with the coöperation of the several State Societies; and the cost shall be defrayed by the latter in proportion to their membership.

The General Council, which shall be composed of all the General Officers, shall exercise the powers of the General Society (except those of demanding State charters, and of amending the Constitution) between meetings of the General Assembly, to which latter body it shall regularly report all its transactions.

ARTICLE VIII.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL.

The Governor-General, or in his absence, a duly selected temporary presiding officer, shall preside at all General Assemblies and meetings of the General Council of the Society.

ARTICLE IX.

SECRETARY-GENERAL.

The Secretary-General shall be keeper of the Great Seal of the Society, and of the General Society flag, and of the diploma. He shall conduct the general correspondence of the Society and keep a record thereof. He shall have charge of the printing and publications of the Society. He shall give due notice of the time and place of the holding of all meetings of the General Assembly, and of the General Council; and shall keep full record of their proceedings.

ARTICLE X.

TREASURER-GENERAL.

The Treasurer-General shall collect and keep the funds and securities of the Society, and deposit and invest them subject to the direction of the General Council. Out of these funds he shall pay such sums as may be ordered by the General Council. He shall keep a full account of his receipts and payments, and at each General Assembly, or when required by the General Council, shall render an account of the same. He shall be custodian of the die of the insignia, and may issue the insignia and rosettes.

For the faithful performance of his duty, he may be required to give such security as the General Council may deem proper.

ARTICLE XI.

REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

It shall be the duty of each State Society to file with the Registrar-General a duplicate of the application of each member. The Registrar-General shall receive and file all duplicate applications upon which membership has been granted, with a list of all diplomas signed by him, and all documents which the Society may acquire. It shall also be his duty to submit to the General Council any application for membership which, in his opinion, does not fulfil the requirements of Article II. of this Constitution.

ARTICLE XII.

HISTORIAN-GENERAL.

The Historian-General shall keep a detailed record of all historical and commemorative celebrations of the General Society, and shall edit and prepare for publication such historical addresses, papers, and other documents as the Society may decide to publish.

ARTICLE XIII.

CHAPLAIN-GENERAL.

The Chaplain-General shall be an ordained minister of a Christian church, and it shall be his duty to officiate when called upon by the proper officers.

ARTICLE XIV.

CHANCELLOR-GENERAL.

The Chancellor-General shall be a lawyer duly admitted to the bar, and it shall be his duty to give legal opinion on matters affecting the Society when called upon by the proper officers.

ARTICLE XV.

SURGEON-GENERAL.

The Surgeon-General shall be a practising physician.

blem of one of the nine original colonies; and, within a blue enameled garter bearing the motto "Fortiter Pro Patria," an Indian's head in gold relievo.

Reverse; The star above described, but with gold edge, each shield between the points displaying a mullet, and in the center, within an annulet of blue bearing the title "Society of Colonial Wars, 1607–1775," the figure of a colonial soldier in gold relievo. The reverse of the crown of each insignia shall bear an engraved number, corresponding to that of the registered number of the member to whom such insignia has been issued.

The insignia shall be worn by the members on all occasions when they assemble as such, for any stated purpose or celebration, and may be worn on any occasion of ceremony. It shall be worn conspicuously on the left breast; but members who are or have been Gentlemen of the Council of a State Society, may place a rosette of regulation pattern upon the silk ribbon from which it is pendant. Members who are or have been General Officers, or Officers of a State Society, may wear the insignia with three jewels in the crown, and suspended from a regulation ribbon around the neck. Members who are or have been Governors, Deputy Governors, or Lieutenant-Governors of State Societies, or officers of the General Society may, in addition to the insignia so suspended, wear a ribbon of the Society's colors, three and one-half inches in width, extending from the right shoulder to the left hip. The insignia shall be worn only as above prescribed.

ARTICLE XVIII.

DIPLOMA.

The diploma of this Society shall bear the following words:

Bordering the top and left side of the diploma is an ornamental scrollwork containing within the initial letter "G." of "General Society," a representation of Captain Miles Standish and a band of colonial soldiery; the initial surmounted by the imperial crown of the British empire, and having below it the motto of the Society. Ranged along the scroll are shields bearing the arms of the original nine colonies as emblazoned in the Great Seal of the Society; and around these are emblems of colonial warfare, with the flags of Sweden and New Netherland, and the rose, thistle, shamrock, and cornflower — badges respectively of England, Scotland, Ireland, and Germany. At the center, at top is a cluster of Indian weapons and the head of a Sachem charged upon the fleur-de-lis of France.

ARTICLE XIX.

FLAG.

The flag of this Society shall consist of the red cross of Saint George on a white field, bearing in the center the escutcheon of the General Society surmounted by the crown and surrounded by nine stars.

ARTICLE XX.

STATE SECRETARIES.

It shall be competent for the General Council to appoint State Secretaries in States where no State Societies exist, with a view to represent the interest of this Society, and, if authorized to do so, to prepare for the organization of new State Societies. Such State Secretaries shall be subject to the direction and regulation of the General Council. Their appointment shall be for a limited time, not to exceed one year, but may be renewed. They may be removed for cause, and their office shall terminate upon the organization of, and grant of a charter to, a Society in their State. They shall communicate with and receive communication from the Society through the Secretary-General.

ARTICLE XXI.

MEMBERS OF STATE SOCIETIES.

The General Council shall elect to membership only charter members of new State Societies; whose membership shall be ipso facto transferred to their own State Society with the grant of its charter. No State Society shall elect to membership persons resident within the territory of another State Society, except upon written consent given in advance by the Council of the latter Society. But members changing residence from one State to another, or coming within the jurisdiction of a new State Society, may at their option retain membership in the State Society in which they were originally admitted.

A member of any State Society may be admitted to membership by action of the Council of another State Society, within the bounds of which he is resident, upon satisfactory proof of his membership in good standing in the Society from which he comes, and subject to the rules and regulations of the Society he enters.

An initiation fee shall not be twice required.

ARTICLE XXII.

ALTERATIONS AND AMENDMENTS.

No alterations of, or amendments to, this Constitution shall be made, unless proposed by the Council of a State Society in writing. The Secretary-General shall send a printed copy of the proposed amendment to each State Society, naming the time when and the place where it will be voted upon, and the voting shall take place in the General Assembly. Six months' notice shall be given to each Society. No amendment shall be made, unless adopted by a two thirds' vote of the State Societies through their delegates in the General Assembly.

SOCIETY OF COLONIAL WARS IN THE STATE OF NEW-YORK.

The Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New-York was instituted August 18, 1892, and incorporated October 18, 1892. The First General Court and dinner was held at Delmonico's, December 19, 1892, and the Second General Court and dinner at the Hotel Waldorf, December 19, 1893. The growth of the Society during the year has been extraordinary, nearly two hundred and fifty members having been admitted since the First General Court. The stated meetings were held as provided for in the Constitution, and the Society has been officially represented during the year at the following events: at the dinner of the Sons of the Revolution, February 22, and at their Church Service; at the Van Speijk dinner of the Saint Nicholas Society, May 8; at the dinner of the Sons of the American Revolution, December 16; at the dinner of the New England Society, December 21, and at the dinner of the Holland Society, January 17, 1894.

A silver punch-bowl was presented to the Society on December 19, 1893, in commemoration of its institution, by a number of the early members.

The bowl is of solid silver, 13½ inches in height and 18½ inches in diameter. Its weight is 298 ounces. The raised figures and etched silverwork are of the finest and most exquisite workmanship. Two large groups of implements are represented on the body of the bowl. One consists of Indian hatchets, pipes, shields and feathers, and the other of old colonial firearms, powder-flasks, belts, and laurel wreaths. The name of the Society is also inscribed upon the bowl, with the dates of the colonial period, 1607–1775. At the base are two figures in characteristic costume and position; one is the American Indian, with his tomahawk raised ready to strike his foe, and the other represents the old colonial soldier with his blunderbuss. American ferns and other foliage complete the decorations. Around the body of the bowl are the arms of the nine colonies. There are also two scenes etched on the bowl: one pictures a three-masted vessel sailing into a harbor, while a band of Indians are awaiting the landing on the shore; and the other, a battle between the Puritans and the Indians. Twenty-three rare old silver coins are inserted in one side of the bowl. These coins cover not only the entire colonial period up to the time of George III., when the revolutionary era begins, but also all the time from the discovery of America in 1492. The first coin is a groat of Henry VIII., bearing the date 1509. In the sides are three of the rare Massachusetts pine-tree shillings. The complete list is as follows: groat, Henry VIII., 1509; shilling, Philip and Mary, 1554–58; Philip II. of Spain, 1566; sixpence and shilling of Queen Elizabeth, 1558–1603; shilling, James I., 1603–25; shilling of Charles I., 1625–49; shilling, Oliver Cromwell, 1658; sixpence and shilling of the Commonwealth, 1652–60; three Massachusetts pine-tree shillings, 1652; shilling, Charles II., 1679; shilling, James II., 1685; crown, William and Mary, 1699; shilling, William III., 1699; Spanish shilling, Charles III., 1708; two threepenny Holland pieces, 1739; shilling, Queen Anne, 1714; shilling, George I., 1714–27; shilling, George II., 1727–60.

The silver ladle has a crouching wildcat for the top of its handle, and in the bowl is inserted a gold twenty-three-shilling coin known as the rose-noble of the time of James I., bearing the date 1605.

The flag of the Society, consisting of the red cross of St. George on a white field, with the arms of the Province of New Netherland on the center, was also first displayed on the same occasion.

The membership clause in the Constitution has been amended so that legislative service unaccompanied by military record no longer constitutes eligibility.

SOCIETY OF COLONIAL WARS IN THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA.

The Society of Colonial Wars in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania was the first one chartered after the New-York Society, the date of organization being January 23, 1893.

The first annual dinner was held at Philadelphia, February 10, 1893, being the one hundred and thirtieth anniversary of the signing of the Treaty of Paris, February 10, 1763.

Christ Church, Philadelphia, on account of its unique historical associations in connection with the colonial period, has been officially selected as the Chapel of this Society.

Eligibility for election to membership in this Society requires that the ancestor of the applicant must have been a Commissioned Officer, or a Governor, Deputy Governor, or Member of the King's or Governor's Council previous to 1775.*

* Previous to December 22, 1893, descendants of Members of Assembly were eligible.

The degree of descent is counted by including the member and excluding the ancestor through whom eligibility is claimed. The dates following the names of ancestors indicate the year of birth and death. Accuracy of historical statements has been especially striven for, but limited space has necessitated curtailment of services, that more lines of descent might be printed.

Charter Members of all State Societies were admitted to membership in the New-York Society, and, unless transferred by their own request, appear as members of two State Societies in this Register.

The records of members are prepared by the officers of their respective State Societies, and correction of errors and notification of omissions should be sent to the Secretary-General, through the Secretaries of the State Societies, that changes may be noted by them.

APPENDIX.

Report of the Committee on Historical Documents on the Part that the Colonies Took in the Expeditions against the Spanish, 1740–1742.[1]

To the General Court of the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New-York:

In pursuance of the resolution of the Society appointing the Committee on Historical Documents to prepare a résumé of the part that the Colonies took in the expeditions against the Spanish, 1740–1742, with a muster-roll of the Colonial troops, your Committee begs leave to report that after a good deal of investigation into the public records of the several States of Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New-York, Connecticut, New Hampshire, and Massachusetts, and after communicating with a number of officials and gentlemen of learning in those States, your Committee is unable to prepare a complete muster-roll of the Colonial troops in these expeditions.

In Maryland there seems to be nothing obtainable that is not already generally set forth in the common histories.

In Virginia there are some facts of an interesting character that have not been brought to light in the histories of these expeditions, which are accessible to the ordinary reader.

It is well known that when the war against the Spaniards was declared in the reign of George II. a requisition was made by that monarch in the thirteenth year of his reign upon all the colonies north of Carolina to send four battalions to assist the expedition against Cartagena under Admiral Vernon.

Alexander Spottswood, Governor of Virginia, was appointed the Commander-in-Chief of the expedition, but he having died before matters were well under way, William Gooch, Lieutenant-Governor of the Colony of Virginia, was appointed in his place.

The instruction to raise troops for service in this war was duly communicated to the Governor in Virginia, and preparations were promptly made by William Gooch, to carry out the royal mandate. An act was passed for raising levies and recruits by the General Assembly in May, 1740 (5 Hening's "Statutes at Large," page 94). This act recites the instruction referred to, the desire of the Assembly upon all occasions to testify their loyalty and duty, and the fact "that there are in every County within this Colony able-bodied persons fit to serve his Majesty, who follow no lawful calling or employment."

It was accordingly enacted that it may be lawful for the justices of the peace of every county in the colony, or any three or more of them, at any time before December 1, 1740, within their respective counties to raise and levy such able-bodied men as do not follow or exercise any lawful calling or employment, or have not some other lawful and sufficient support and maintenance to serve his Majesty as soldiers in the war. The assistance of the sheriffs, under-sheriffs, and constables in carrying the act into execution was directed, whose duty it was to search out such persons, bring them before the justices, and if they were found to be within the act they were to be immediately enlisted as soldiers, delivered to the nearest constable, to be conveyed from constable to constable until they should be brought to the Lieutenant-Governor at Williamsburg. Any constable allowing an escape was to be fined five hundred pounds of tobacco, and persons so escaping were to be punished as deserters. It was specially provided, however, that nothing in the act should extend to the taking or levying any person to serve as soldier who had any vote in the election of a burgess or burgesses to serve in the General Assembly of the colony, or who was or should be an indented or bought servant.

At a General Assembly held at Williamsburg, August 1, 1740, an act was passed directing the treasurer of the colony to pay to Lieutenant-Governor William Gooch, Esq., five thousand pounds, to be applied toward providing victuals, transports, and other necessaries for the soldiers raised in the colony for service in the Spanish war (5 Hening's "Statutes at Large," page 121).

The act recites that his most sacred Majesty (George II.), for vindicating the honor of his crown, for securing the trade and commerce of his subjects, and for revenging the cruelties, depredations, and insults committed by the subjects of Spain upon those of Great Britain, thought it necessary to enter into a war with Spain; that in pursuance of his Majesty's instructions a number of soldiers had been enlisted in the colony to serve on an intended expedition against the Spaniards in the West Indies; that his Majesty had recommended and required of his good subjects of the colony to provide for the expense of victualing and transporting the said soldiers and all other incident charges attending the enlisting of them (except their pay, cloaths, arms, and ammunition) till their arrival at the general rendezvous in the West Indies; that the Assembly desired to give the utmost testimony of their loyalty and affection to his Majesty's person and government, and had resolved to give such sum as the circumstances of the colony would allow, notwithstanding the present low condition of the treasury, and that money could not be raised without borrowing it on the credit of the small revenues arising from duties upon liquors and slaves.

The treasurer was authorized to borrow the said sum at six per cent. interest, and to pledge said revenues as security for repayment.

There is little doubt that at least three companies were formally enrolled from Virginia, for it appears in the executive journal under date of August 6, 1740, that the following were commissioned

Captains:

LAWRENCE WASHINGTON, CHARLES WALKER, and RICHARD BUSHROD.

Lieutenants:

FRANCIS MOSS, ——— BELLONY, LEWIS BROWNE.

Ensigns:

WILLIAM FITZHUGH, HUGH ROSE, ——— YOUNG, ——— PILOTT.

Under date of May 31, 1740, there is an entry in the Executive Journal of an estimate of "three hundred and fifty pounds of shipping required to transport men that have been or shall be raised in this Colony for his Majesty's service."

It is well known that Lawrence Washington actually served in this expedition. The Magazine of American History, Vol. II, page 436, N. Y., 1878, has a letter from him written from Jamaica, 1741. Lawrence Washington was a brother of George Washington, and Mount Vernon, afterward descended to George, was named by Lawrence after his old friend and companion in arms, Admiral Vernon, who had charge of the expedition.

While it must be assumed that those who were compulsorily enlisted under the acts referred to, were not admirable citizens of the colony, yet it is by no means certain that there were not in the expedition a great many volunteers against whom nothing could be said.

The destruction by fire of the capitol building at Williamsburg and later at Richmond makes it now impossible, so far as our investigations have gone, to ascertain further than as above stated the names of the men from Virginia who took part in the expedition.

It has been suggested that these muster-rolls may be found in the Foreign Office in London, and in the hope of ascertaining the fact the Secretary of the Committee has recently written to our Minister on the subject; but sufficient time has not elapsed since to hear from him.[2]

In New-York the results of our investigations may be summarized as follows:

On April 15, 1740, George Clarke, Lieutenant-Governor of the Colony, issued a proclamation, stating that on October 19, 1739, the king had declared war against the Spaniards and that he had been directed to proclaim the same in all places under his government to the end that they may take care to prevent any mischief, which otherwise they might suffer from the enemy, and also to prevent any ammunition or other stores being carried to them. Also that an expedition was to be sent out from England under the command of Major-General Lord Cathcart with a convoy of men of war, to a place in the West Indies, to be appointed for that purpose, there to be joined by the squadron under command of Vice-Admiral Vernon, then in the West Indies, and by such a number of troops as may be raised in America. The American troops to be under command of Colonel Spottswood; and Colonel Blakeney, Adjutant-General in the expedition, was on his way from England with arms, clothing, and money. Ending by calling on his Majesty's subjects to cheerfully enlist as volunteers.

The only muster-roll on record is this:

Company to be raised in New Rochelle, as follows:

Captain: Anthony Lispenard.

Lieutenant: Will Le Conte.

Ensign: Joseph Pell.

Privates:

Joseph Donaldson,	James Cambey,
Thomas Bolt,	Nicholas Vallet,
Robert Clement,	Darius Lunt,
John Constant, Jr.,	John James Pilliond,

William Bridges.

A second proclamation was issued on June 24, 1740, by Lieutenant-Governor Clarke in which he says it is his Majesty's intention that the troops raised in this province shall consist of companies of one hundred men each, including four sergeants, four corporals, and two drummers, besides three commissioned officers; but his Majesty reserves to himself the nomination of the field and staff officers and one lieutenant for each company, who will be men of experience; also one sergeant will be furnished for each company from the four independent companies posted here. "All the other officers are left to my nomination, and I have received blank commissions for same." All officers and men to receive same pay as in British army. In case of the death of Major-General Spottswood, before appointed, the command was to go to Hon. William Gooch, Esq., Lieutenant-Governor of Virginia, an experienced officer.

On July 22, 1740, David Provost having raised a company, was commissioned to command it; the 2d lieutenancy was offered to one Hinman, but he refused.

A law was passed July 12, 1740, entitled "An Act for Transporting and Victualling of Volunteers Inlisted in this Colony to serve in the Expedition therein mentioned," appropriating £2500 for transporting to the place of "General Randevous" all of the forces from this colony, and for procuring and putting on board of vessels such provisions as may be requisite.

Colonel Joseph Robinson and Mr. Stephen Bayard were appointed commissioners, with the advice of the Lieutenant-Governor, the Hon. Colonel Gooch, and the Hon. Colonel Blakeney, or the major part of them, to apply the money for the purposes for which appropriated.

The commissioners were required by the law to "Enter into Recognizance before any of the Justices of the Supreme Court or before the Mayor of the City of New York, unto his Majesty, his Heirs and Successors in the sum of £1250 with two sufficient sureties, each in half that sum" for proper performance of their duties; the commissioners to receive five per cent. of money expended as pay.

On September 18, 1741, the Lieutenant-Governor, in a speech to the Council, said he had received a letter from General Wentworth asking for more recruits, and requesting that they take speedy measures for transporting and victualing same.

On September 10, 1740, in a speech to the General Assembly, the Lieutenant-Governor said: "At your last sitting you gave a sum of money for Transporting and Victualling 500 men, to be employed in the Expedition against the Spaniards, that being the number you then thought would be raised in this province, for that service; but there being now another company of 100 men raising and almost compleat; I recommend to you to give a further sum."

This request was denied by the General Assembly on the ground that the intended expedition had been misrepresented by the Lieutenant-Governor who said in his proclamation of April 15 that Colonel Blakeney would bring with him (besides arms, etc.) money to pay all expenses; and that although they did not expect the province would have to pay, they had nevertheless granted £2500 and did not now care to increase this debt.

The records at Albany stop here and no further reference is made to the New-York troops in the expedition.

In Massachusetts laws were passed in May and September, 1740, and November, 1741, to encourage the expedition by giving bounties to enlisted men and providing for their exemption from civil process during the time of their actual service, except for debts exceeding £30, and providing the sum of £5000 for the transport and wages of seamen employed in the service.

Your Committee are gratified to state that the archives of Massachusetts apparently contain a full register of the troops from that State, and have had the same transcribed, to be filed with this report.

The public records of New Jersey, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Rhode Island and New Hampshire do not disclose any muster-rolls whatever, or the names of any officers of these expeditions, or any other information, so far as we have been able to ascertain.

Your Committee would recommend that the Committee on Historical Documents for the ensuing year be requested to pursue this investigation, as we cannot but feel that if the matter be followed up the names of the men who participated in this interesting and yet (in the details) obscure event may be, as they ought to be, rescued from oblivion.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

[1] Printed from the unexpended balance of the appropriation made to the Committee.

[2] Since the foregoing was written the Secretary of the Committee has received from Hon. Thos. F. Bayard, United States Ambassador to Great Britain, a letter inclosing correspondence between himself and Mr. B. F. Stephens, who is engaged in publishing in facsimile, original documents relating to the formation of our Government. At the instance of Mr. Bayard, Mr. Stephens made an examination of documents in the Public Record Office in London, sufficient to disclose the fact that probably all the information the Committee required to substantially carry out the Resolution of the Society is obtainable from that office. Mr. Stephens has, with great kindness and consideration, prepared a memorandum for the use of the Committee, which points directly to sources of valuable and interesting information on the subject under view, which has never been published.

The thanks of the Society are due both to Mr. Bayard and to Mr. Stephens for their intelligent and efficient coöperation in the work of the Committee.
